Course description

Our goal is to use a sociological lens to explore the topic of poverty. The main argument of this course is that poverty is a socially constructed state of material deprivation with significant collective and individual consequences. Understanding what it means to be poor, who is categorized as poor, and what can be done to alleviate poverty requires us to move beyond personal opinions and widespread stereotypes. Our task is to examine empirical research on poverty and interpret the findings with the help of sociological theories. Together we will learn about the history, sources, patterns, consequences, and policies that shape poverty in the U.S. and around the world.

Our time together will focus on the following activities:

1. Read the assigned selections until you understand them.
2. Take online reading quizzes to assess your comprehension.
3. Listen to lectures that strongly emphasize the readings.
4. Participate in class discussions to solidify your understanding.
5. Study for the test by testing yourself beforehand.
6. Take the test to demonstrate what you have learned.
7. Repeat steps 1-6 three more times.

General Education Objectives: Sociology 3306 meets the GE requirement for Diversity - Social Diversity in the United States.

- Goals: Students understand the pluralistic nature of institutions, society, and culture in the US and across the world in order to become educated, productive, and principled citizens.
- Expected Learning Outcomes: (1) Students describe and evaluate the roles of such categories as race, gender and sexuality, disability, class, ethnicity, and religion in the pluralistic institutions and cultures of the US and (2) Students recognize the role of social diversity in shaping their own attitudes and values regarding appreciation, tolerance, and equality of others.

HOW THIS ONLINE COURSE WORKS

Mode of delivery: This course is 100% online. There are no required sessions when you must be logged in to Carmen at a scheduled time.

Pace of online activities: This course is divided into weekly modules that are released one week ahead of time. Students are expected to keep pace with weekly deadlines but may schedule their efforts freely within that time frame.

Credit hours and work expectations: This is a 3-credit-hour course. According to Ohio State policy (go.osu.edu/credithours), students should expect around 3 hours per week of time spent on direct instruction (instructor content and Carmen activities, for example) in addition to 6 hours of homework (reading and assignment preparation, for example) to receive a grade of (C) average.

Attendance and participation requirements: Because this is an online course, your attendance is based on your online activity and participation. The following is a summary of students' expected participation:

- Participating in online activities for attendance: AT LEAST ONCE PER WEEK
You are expected to log in to the course in Carmen every week. (During most weeks you will probably log in many times.) If you have a situation that might cause you to miss an entire week of class, discuss it with me as soon as possible.
- Office hours and live sessions: OPTIONAL
All live, scheduled events for the course, including my office hours, are optional.
Optional Zoom Sessions: Over the course of the semester, I will hold several optional Zoom sessions. These sessions will be used to review class readings and reinforce key concepts. The Zoom sessions will be held on Thursdays during the scheduled class period, 9:35 – 10:55 am. Attendance is encouraged but not mandatory.
- Participating in discussion forums: 2+ TIMES PER WEEK
As part of your participation, each week you can expect to post at least twice as part of our substantive class discussion on the week's topics.

Descriptions of major course assignments

Tests

Description: Each test consists of fifty objective questions—mainly multiple choice with some true/false—to be completed in about an hour. Test questions focus exclusively on the content found in the lecture slides. You will not need to study previous quizzes to prepare for upcoming tests.

Academic integrity and collaboration: Tests will be administered online through Carmen. Students may NOT access any outside help while taking tests. For example, you may NOT use books or notes or speak to anyone during the tests. Tests will become available 48 hours before they are due. Correct answers will be made available as soon as the test is completed.

To ensure academic integrity while taking tests, students will be required to use the online proctoring tool Proctorio. This tool offers you flexibility to take your exams in the location of your choosing. Students are required to have a webcam (USB or internal) with a microphone and a strong and stable internet connection. During the course of an exam, Proctorio will record the testing environment, therefore students should select private spaces for the exam session where disruptions are unlikely and where recording devices can be enabled. To use Proctorio you must be over 18 years of age and have a valid BuckID available during the exam.

To use Proctorio you must use Google Chrome as your web browser. If you use any other web browser, you will not be able to complete tests using Proctorio. If you fail to set up Proctorio before the first test, you may receive a failing grade for that assignment. I highly recommend that you visit the following website as soon as possible for instructions on using this online tool: <https://resourcecenter.odee.osu.edu/carmencanvas/installing-proctorio>

It is possible that you will encounter a problem when attempting to install or use Proctorio. For example while attempting to access a test, you may be prompted to enter a code which you have not been given. When such issues arise, please remain calm. First check to make sure you are using the Google Chrome browser. Then contact Proctorio support at <https://proctorio.com/support>. Many students have reported receiving helpful solutions when accessing Proctorio support.

Quizzes

Description: Quizzes must be taken by yourself on Carmen, and you MAY use course materials (e.g., books, notes), but you MAY NOT seek help from anyone while taking the quizzes. Each online quiz asks questions about readings listed in the course schedule on the same day as the quiz. Although no makeup quizzes will be given, two of the twelve quizzes will count as extra credit points. Quizzes open online 24 hours before they are due. Correct answers will be made available in class when we go over each quiz.

Each quiz consists of ten objective questions—mainly multiple choice with some true/false—to be completed in about twenty minutes. Quiz questions focus exclusively on the content found in the readings.

Discussion

Description: As our course is a distance learning environment, your participation in the online discussion forums is crucial for academic success. To keep the conversation manageable, you will be placed into a smaller group on Carmen. Please take the time to introduce yourself and reply to at least one other student during the first week of the semester. For each unit, you will be expected to respond to a provided prompt. If you are the first to post, click “Reply” to this prompt. Then write 300-400 words addressing the specific requirements of the prompt. If you are not the first to post, click “Reply” to the LAST post in this thread. Then write 150-200 words addressing the specific requirements of the prompt AND an additional 150-200 words explaining how your topic relates to the previous student’s concept. If, while you are typing, another student responds to the post you were intending to respond to, you must now respond to what has become the “new” last prompt. I intend to treat these discussions as a form of interactive class participation. As long as the quality and quantity of the posts remain high, students will receive full credit for each post. However, if the overall quality and quantity of the posts begin to diminish, points will be deducted.

Discussion Forum Guidelines:

1. Don't repeat a concept has already been addressed in a given thread. Come up with something new.
2. Stay positive when discussing other students' posts. Point out strengths, not weaknesses.
3. Avoid personal stories and political opinions. Instead focus on sociological concepts.
4. Write in complete sentences. Avoid abbreviations, emojis, slang, etc.

Academic integrity and collaboration: You are expected to do your own work. You don’t work on your assignments with others, except where explicitly authorized and permitted. You don’t copy & paste answers into your assignments.

Late assignments

Late submissions will not be accepted. Please refer to Carmen for due dates.

OTHER COURSE POLICIES

Discussion and communication guidelines

The following are my expectations for how we should communicate as a class. Above all, please remember to be respectful and thoughtful.

- Writing style: While there is no need to participate in class discussions as if you were writing a research paper, you should remember to write using good grammar, spelling, and punctuation. A more conversational tone is fine for non-academic topics.
- Tone and civility: Let's maintain a supportive learning community where everyone feels safe and where people can disagree amicably. Remember that sarcasm doesn't always come across online.
- Citing your sources: When we have academic discussions, please cite your sources to back up what you say. For the textbook or other course materials, list at least the title and page numbers. For online sources, include a link.
- Backing up your work: Consider composing your academic posts in a word processor, where you can save your work, and then copying into the Carmen discussion.

Academic integrity policy

See Descriptions of major course assignments, above, for my specific guidelines about collaboration and academic integrity in the context of this online class.

It is the responsibility of the Committee on Academic Misconduct to investigate or establish procedures for the investigation of all reported cases of student academic misconduct. The term “academic misconduct” includes all forms of student academic misconduct wherever committed; illustrated by, but not limited to, cases of plagiarism and dishonest practices in connection with examinations. Instructors shall report all instances of alleged academic misconduct to the committee (Faculty Rule 3335-5-487). For additional information, see the Code of Student Conduct <http://studentlife.osu.edu/csc/>.

If I suspect that a student has committed academic misconduct in this course, I am obligated by university rules to report my suspicions to the Committee on Academic Misconduct. If COAM determines that you have violated the university's Code of Student Conduct (i.e., committed academic misconduct), the sanctions for the misconduct could include a failing grade in this course and suspension or dismissal from the university.

If you have any questions about the above policy or what constitutes academic misconduct in this course, please contact me.

Other sources of information on academic misconduct (integrity) to which you can refer include:

- Committee on Academic Misconduct web page (go.osu.edu/coam)
- Ten Suggestions for Preserving Academic Integrity (go.osu.edu/ten-suggestions)

Quizzes must be taken by yourself on Carmen, and you MAY use course materials (e.g., books, notes), but you MAY NOT seek help from anyone while taking the quizzes. The use of Proctorio is not required for quizzes.

Each online quiz asks questions about readings listed in the course schedule on the same day as the quiz. Although no makeup quizzes will be given, two of the twelve quizzes will count as extra credit points. No quizzes will be dropped. Quizzes open online 48 hours before they are due. Correct answers will be made available during office hours.
